GREENBANK LAND GRANTS

POCAHONTAS COUNTY

Chapter 4 - Section 3

Sometime ago I was asked to write a list concerning the original patents or land grants of the Greenbank Community; I have forgotten which particular grants were mentioned, but I will give you a list of the original land grants that are adjacentand contiguous, and run with common lines, and are situated on the waters of the North Fork and Deer Creek, and should figure largely in the local history of the Greenbank Community.

I don't know the exact date but sometime before the Revolutionary War, a dauntless band of pioneers posessed of adventurous spirit crossed the Allegheny Mountains, and from the summit of one of the loftiest peaks, where until then the foot of a white man had never trod, they viewed the vast expanse of the level land and the forest of the Deer Creek Valley; returning probably to quaint old Williamsburg, they told of the wonderful discovered country which is now the Greenbank Community, and thus opened the way for the venturesome pioneer as he forecast the future of the beautiful landscape. This lone pioneer was John Warwick. He was one of those daring men, who, as the tide of emigration started westward, had left his friends and family and after many days of hunting and exploring, reached the junction of North Fork and Deer Creek.

The scene so impressed John Warwick that he concluded to build a home and found a settlement on the waters of Deer Creek. After taking a tomahawk right or posession, which consisted of blazing a few trees, and building a rude shack, he set out for his home in east Virginia to tell his people of the magnificent country he had discovered.

Immediately with his three sons, Andrew, John Jr., and William, he persuaded a large number of settlers to accompany him to the Deer Creek valley; the new settlers moved in and and the settlement began to grow and flourish, and the Red men began to be troublesome; some settlers were shot, and bands of hostile Indians prowled around and made it dangerous.

I have told before about the Warwick fort so I shall not repeat it.

The month of June 1780 must have been a very busy time for the early settlers of the the Auditor's office in Charleston, W. Va., which was made for Jacob Warwick for 340 acres. June 8, 1780, James McCartee 215 acres. June 9, 1780, William Nottingham 300 acres. June 10, 1780, James Rucker 361 acres. June 11, 1789, James Rucker Jr. 345 acres. June 12, 1780, Jacob Gillaspie 400 acres. June 12, 1780, Thomas Jarvis, 400 acres. June 13, 1780, Thomas Cartmill 358 acres. Aug. 8, 1782, William Warwick, 900 acres. Abraham Ingram November 15, 1785, 138 acres. William Taylor, 1785, 230 acres. Godlip Hartman, 1795 313 acres. All of these grants are recorded in Augusta County Grant Book No. 1; and grants issued to James McKamey, James Kerney, John Warwick, Joseph Wooddell, Thomas Coberly, Thomas Wooddell, William Warwick, Daniel Kerr, James Munsen, Benona Griffin, and Samuel Tallman are found recorded in Bath County Book No. 1.

This brings us up to 1795, when the speculators and land sharks began to secure grants for large tracts of land in the Allegheny Mountains bordering on the new settlements, which was Bath County at that time. A grant for 44,000 acres was issued to Thomas Wilson in 1795. This tract of land lies between the town of Marlinton, including the town of Dunmore and near the site of the old Cross Road School House below one cent. On November 1, 1817, Sampson Mathews employed Samuel D. Poage to make a division of the 44,000 acres, the line to begin at a point on Arthur Grimes' land and pass a high point of rocks on Michael Mountain, which is about three hundred yards west of the Lookout Tower on the Michael Mountain, and passes near the CCC Camps on the Browns Creek road. On July 1, 1818, Sampson Mathews conveyed by deed the west end of the survey of 9500 acres to John Moore, Andrew Ervine, James Waugh, Arthur and Charles Grimes. The The east end of the tract was disposed of by the Mathews and Jacob Warwick.

This Wilson Survey of 44,000 acres has been a harvest field for the lumber companies. The Seneca Game Forest is in the bounds of this survey which aggregates an area of 10,847 acres, and cost the state more than $20,000. In 1905 the Pocahontas Timber Company sold 2112 acres which is in the bounds of the Seneca Forest for the sum of $32,736.00.

The James Patton Survey of 37000 acres by survey bearing date May 1, 1795 lies in the Allegheny Mountains, between the mouth of Ervin Draft on Back Creek, in Highland County, Stony Run, Ervin Draft, Ruckman Draft, Briscoe Draft and Bird's Run.

On June 5, 1795 a survey of 30,000 acres was made for William Bridger who assigned the same to Jacob Kuhn, adjoins the James Patton Survey of 37000 acres and running with a common line from a small white oak tree standing back of the Brushy Run Chapel Church; the line passing north of the Allegheny Church; this same oak tree is corner to the Charles Galliger survey and the Kuhn or Bridger survey run with common lines to a point near Bartow, the Bridger or Kuhn Survey extends up the east prong of the Greenbrier River, crossing the mountain on the head waters of the South Branch of the Potomac. This survey was re-surveyed and divided up in 1841 for Joseph Brown by Thomas Campbell, and found to contain 351.52 acres.

The Charles Galliger Survey of 32000 acres made in 1795 lies between the town of Bartow, and nearly up to Cass, taking in the little mountain between Deer Creek and the River, and running near the top of Cheat Mountain. In 1875 B. M. Yeager, surveyor of Pocahontas County, cut the Charles Thomas Kincaid, adjoining the Thomas Wilson Survey of 44000 acres at the east end of the Michael Mountain, and running about three miles with the Wilscn line to the lands of William and Andrew Warwick; lyinf mostly in the Hill neighborhood. This grant is known as the Henry Bull Survey, an assignee of Thomas Kincaid.

The last of the large surveys was made for William Dizer, on the 19th of December 1805; containing 605 acres lying on the head waters of Rosin Run and Thorny Branch, adjoining the James Patton Survey oa 37000 acres, and interlocking with the Thomas Kincaid survey and thereby linking up all the large grants of patents that circumscribe the Greenbank Community.

Now going back to the lands of the early settlers, of the Greenbank Community, we find that the town of Greenbank is situated on the lands or grants of Jacob Gillispie and Thomas Cartmill; and the North Fork was called "Cartmill's Creek" up until about 1830 when some old fool who didn't know the points of the compass called it North Fork, and it has gone by that name since. It is the east branch or Deer Creek, and it should have continued under the name of Cart-

Jacob Gillispie. The old Gillispie Homestead is now owned by F. H. Hedrick, Vo-Ag teacher.

The town of Arborvale is situated on the grant of Benona Griffin and James Rucker, Jr, The Set Stone corner n near the gate of D. C. Wood's store building is a common corner to the two grants mentioned, and to the lands supposed to be owned by Jacob Rambau. The Arborvale Church is in the Griffin Patent. James Rucker conveyed part of his l land to Moses Houchin where we get the name "Mosey Flat" which lies on the west side of Arborvale.

The North Fork Milling Company's Flour Mill is in the grant issued to Thomas Jarvis. Jarvis conveyed his land to the Gillaspies, the Gillaspies to Patrick Bruffey in 1822 who developed the water power for the North Fork Flour Mill.

William Taylor conveyed his land to John Brown on September 8, 1795, and Brown conveyed his land to Harman Conrad on August 3, 1799, and the same land still remains in posession of the Conrad heirs.

The first church in the Greenbank Community was built in what is now the old part of the Arborvale cemetery, and but we have no records to verify the fact. Jacob Rumbl's home was on the lands now owned by James Cassell, which was formerly the James Rucker patent.

Much could be written about the land grants of the pioneers of the Greenbank Community, but it would be an elaborate piece of work to go into detail with them all.

R. W. Brown, Surveyor

Note; The Sampson Mathews mentioned in the above as buying the 44,000 acre tract for five dollars and one cent was the great grandfather or Judge George McClintic of Charleston.

Dear Sir:

You will findi in my reports a list of all of the Origional land Grantees of what is now Pocahontas County. with the exception of a few of the Grantees that is of Record in the Greenbrier Grat Book No 1. and the Grant Book No1 of Augusta County. In order to have this supliment of the land Grants the pioneers of Pocahontas County complete I will have to make a trip to the Auditors Office at Charleston West, which will only be a matter of about one day or two , in securing this data.

I have been working on this as a side line mostly., and I hope to have it all finished in this month. It has covered Pocahontas Grant Books No 1 and No 2 Also the Origional Bath Grat Book No 1 and No 2.

I have your letter of April 3rd and as you have stated , and requested, I will skip some of the minor and smaller streams ; but it appear that some of the smaller streams of Pocahontas County have more historical connection than some more important streams or branches; there is only a few more to make mention of.

If there is any thing you dont understand about my reports && I will be glad if you will let me know about it.

Very truly yours.
